CEDEP shares its expertise on Leadership & Safety at the Society of Petroleum Engineers International Conference in Abu Dhabi, attending with partners Equilibria and Meta-LUCID

April 2018

CEDEP, the international executive development club in Fontainebleau, will be attending its first Society of Petroleum Engineers (SPE) International Conference in Abu Dhabi from 16-18 April.

For more than 25 years, this event focusing on Health, Safety, Security, Environment and Social Responsibility has been the E&P industry's premier international event highlighting HSE best practices and challenges.

Andrew Sharman, CEDEP's new Leadership and Safety Culture Programme Director, CEO of RMS and Vice President and Chartered Fellow of the Institution of Occupational Safety & Health (IOSH) will be taking part in one of the Conference panel sessions, addressing the topic of 'Application of Brain and Social Science – Helping the Workforce Understand How to Better Recognise and Address Hazards'. Professor Sam Abadir, who continues to teach in the programme will also be available during the exhibition to share the content of the programme, and answer questions. Online tools and tests will be available at the CEDEP booth (number 19).

This event will give both the SPE and Middle East networks the opportunity to discover the unique CEDEP ecosystem. In this objective, the CEDEP team will attend with two of their partners, Equilibria and Meta-LUCID, with whom they propose transformation programmes aiming at changing mindsets and improving key performance metrics.

About Meta-LUCID

Formed in 2007, Meta-LUCID is a global based firm of practitioners specialising in the design and implementation of performance improvement initiatives based on leadership identification and development. They fuse the adult learning principles from action learning and discovery learning to create techniques, tools and methods to help their clients overcome performance barriers and to develop their leadership capability. A source of competitive differentiation.

A guiding principle of working with their clients is that we take accountability, and in doing so reflect back to them the adaptability, agility and growth mindset that is needed to compete on a global stage.

About Equilibria

Equilibria works with major corporations and organizations worldwide to improve safety, teamwork and communications. They guide individuals and teams to understand and leverage diversity of personal thought to minimize risk, increase quality and efficiency, and enhance overall human performance. With knowledge of what triggers actions and reactions in ourselves and others, it is possible to make conscious choices, choosing to succeed and perform to our highest potential, both individually and collectively. At Equilibria, they call this Living with Intention.
